PERSONAL .- Capt. J. M. Hewett, late of this ity, at present connected with the artillery service under Col. Bramlette, was ordered to this city a few days ago by Col. B. upon a service the performance of which would require his absence from his command for several days. Learning that Col. Bramlette's Regiment had been thrown forward toward the enemy and that there was a applied to Gen. Anderson for a release from duty here, representing to Gen. A BATTLE AT SEWELL MOUNTAIN.-Rum have reached Cincinnati by the Kanawha boats of a battle between the forces commanded by Gen. Cox and Col. R. L. McCook and those o Generals Floyd and Wise. The Commercial says a letter has been received from Dr. J. T. Webb, of the Twenty-third Ohio, dated on the commanded by Floyd and Wise, at Sewell Mountain. The news was, that the rebels were getting the worst of it, and falling back upon their fortifications at Lewisburg.

IG OF THE DRY DOCK-SHIPPING A COLUM-HAD-BURNING A REBEL PRIVATEER .- The ebels at Pensacola were some time ago anxious o use the dry dock for the purpose of blockading the ship channel. How this design was defeated

Yesterday was intensely hot. Night came, and a gentle breeze sprang up. The aky was cloudless, and slumber, which had been wooed in vain through the long hours of the day by the men lying in the shade of their tents, fell upon every soul in the camp save the sentries. Two hours of the morning had flown, when the report of several volleys of musketry from the exposite shore was heard by the sentries, followed shortly after by the heavy boom of three large guns, discharged rapidly one after the other.

The whole camp was quickly aroused, the men, in almost the time it takes to narrate this, were under arms, not knowing what to expect. Shortly flames were seen shooting up from the rebels schooner upon the opposite shore. A few exattering reports of musketry were still heard. These gradually died away until all was silent.

As the flames of the burning vessel shone over the water, three barges, filled with men, were seen making their way steadily through the water toward the entrance of the bay.

Morning broke, and we heard the particulars of this last enterprise. They were narrated to me by Major Vogdes, at the fort, and are as followe:

Three barges from the Colorado, containing twenty sailors and sixty-five marines, under command of Lieut. Russell, arrived at the fort shortly after dark last night. Capt. Reynolds, of the marines, and one or two midshipmen accompanied the expedition.

Upon each barge a twelve-pound howitzer was mounted, loaded with grape and shrappel.

The officers and men disembarked at the fort, and remained on shore until about one o'clock, then again embarked and made their way toward the Navy Yard.

and remained on shore until about one o'clock, then again embarked and made their way toward the Navy Yard.

Arriving within a few hundred yards, the boats separated, one making for the schooner Judith, lying alongside the dock, a short distance off from the battery where the ten-inch Columbiad is mounted. The second boat headed for the dock, while the third lay off a short distance, to cover the retreat with her gun. They were espied by the sentries when off a hundred yards or thereabouts, and hailed. The answer was given, "Guard boats;" and, as they had crept up near the island shore, some distance above the navyard, and came down as if from Pensacola, they were mistaken for guard boats approaching from the latter place, until but a few yards intervened between them and their respective destination. A sentry upon the dock first discovered the mistake, and fired his musket at the boat approaching him, then turned to give the alarm, but was stopped by a well aimed builet.

The men sprang ashore just as the long roll conded to colour the sections a stationed head.

stopped by a well aimed bullet.

The men sprang ashore just as the long roll sounded to alarm the soldiers stationed there. The other sentries field. The gun was reached, and one man, before prepared, proceeded to spike it. Just as he had most effectually completed his job a Confederate officer—rushing ahead of his men, who were congregating from all directions a few hundred fest off—confronted him. The manico turned, draw his cuttlass, and cut him down.

that city, and steps have been taken in the event of his appointment for his speedy removal.

CAPE GIEARDEAU.—The St. Louis Democrat says that considerable fear is entertained by the citizens of Cape Girardeau of an attack from the rebels under Jeff Thompson or Hardee, and representations from that direction to Gen. Fremont have induced him to send them reinforcements. The force there now is about five thousand men, which, behind their splendid fortifications, we think are equal to anything that may be led against them.

DEPARTURE OF SECESSION PRISONERS.—A requisition was made by Gen. Mitchel upon Maj. King for the secession prisoner's at the Newport (Ky.) Barracks, namely: John Ambler and Martin H. Brand, of Covington; Marion Daniels, Demossville; David Diltz, Wm. B. Glaves, Judge Curry, Perry Wherritt, and A. J. Morey, of Cynthiana. The parties were taken to Cincinnati under a military escort on Wednesday, and from theoret to Calumbus.

SECESSION OUTRAGES-NEW COMPANY.

SEIZURE AND ARREST.—The steamer Choctaw, for some time lying at the St. Louis wharf, has been taken possession of by the United States Marshal, and Capt. Silver, her commander, has been arrested on a charge of treason. Capt. D. H. Silver is a citizen of Lexington, Mo., and was well known in the Southern trade, with his steamer, the Choctaw.

THE MARION RIPLES.—At a meeting of this Company, held at their Armory Wednesday, the following officers were elected to serve in the State service: Captain Jno. Hughes; 1st Lieutenant, A. J. Harrington, 2d Lieutenant, James Barbee. The company will go into Camp on Saturday next.

CONTINUED.—W. G. Overton, who is under arrest in this city on the charge of aiding the rebellion, was brought before the United States Court yesterday for examination. But a single witness was examined, when the case was continued by the Government until Saturday.

TROOPS IN THANSIT.—The Twenty-first and Thirty-eighth regiments Ohio volunteers passed through Covington, Ky., on Wednesday, for the interior of the State. ne an easy prize to the enemy at any moment, nident as I am that Gen. Anderson will ultimately drive the scoundrels out of our State, yet it seems to me that such an object could soonest be accomplished by the speedy occupation of all the more prominent river towns, thus, to a great extent, cutting off their sustenance, for which they dependial together upon the country ahead of them, as they leave nothing behind from which to draw their rations.

Respectfully,
P. S. I have just learned that Lieutenant Colonel Somerby, who had 600 men at Hopkinsville,
Ky. has arrived from that place and says that Buckner with 5,000 rebels was marching upon him, when he immediately struck his tests and him, when he immediately struck his tents and burned them, together with such equipage as he could not remove, and dispersed his men, telling them to meet him as soon as possible at Henderson or this place. Col. S. brought off some $10,000 in specie. The "Lue Eaves" and "Mattie Cook" have just started to Spottsville to the relief of our men there, who will give the enemy battle unless overpowered in numbers. Colonel Crufts is in command and will nobly discharge his duty. Col. Hawkins has also gone up, and, in all, there will be near 800 men, with two 6-pounders.

Newberry, Wayne co., Ky., Sept. 26.
Gestlemes: On Monday a company of eighty or one hundred from the rebel camps of Tennessee, aided by a few citizens of the county, rushed into Albany (more than half of the citizens being out of town), seized on about twenty guns and ammunition belonging to the Home Guard, cutting down their flag, and committing other depredations; went to a store in the county, cut down a flag, broke open the store, took some guns, powder, and lead and what else they pleased, and left. It is reported to-day that there are about eight bundred Tennesseeans encamped within six miles of Albany, and it is thought their forces will be augmented to two or three thousand in a day or two. The citizens are all leaving Albany. Great excitement prevails in the county. Fearing an attack would be or three thousand in a day or two. The citizens are all leaving Albany. They made an arrangement to go into camp near that place, inviting the Home Guards of the adjoining counties to join them.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1861.

GOVERNOR MORTON'S ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE OF INDIANA .- We call attention to this noble Address in our paper of to-day. Let the whole people of Kentucky, as well as the whole people of Indiana, read it. It is a strong and powerful appeal to our fellow-citizens of Indiana, who have already done so much for Kentucky, to come to her rescue in bearing in mind that only in Kentucky's safety can they find their own.

This call of the patriotic Morton upon the people of his State will endear him still more to him. He has been emphatically Kentucky's forces stationed upon her soil, and leave her guardian-spirit from the very commencement of the dangers that now darkly threaten her | ficulties they have. Certainly the Confederate very existence, and she knows it. Kentucky gratitude. Oh that all the public functionaries of the country were as vigilant, as clearsighted, as energetic, as fearless, and as chiv-announce with exceeding pleasure that Gen. Lovell H. Rousseau has been appointed Brig. adier-General by the U. S. Government. We thank the Government, and we congratulate Kentucky and the army of defence. The chivalry of our State never bore a nobler flower than Gen. Rousseau.

We have known Lovell H. Rousseau for more than twenty years, and we never knew a more gallant, generous, and knightly spirit. His heart is as tender as a woman's and braver than a lion's. His whole soul overflows with the truest and best feelings of human'ty, but he will fearlessly bare his breast in the front of armed hosts to the fiercest lightnings that ever burst from the cloud of battle.

Louisville and Kentucky are under deep and lasting obligations to Gen. Rousseau, and they know it. He saw farther into the future than the rest of our fellow-citizens, and, fortunately for us all, he acted vigorously upon his foresight. If he had not, in spite of an opposition that would have discouraged almost any other man, raised those fine regiments at Camp Joe Holt, what, ere this, would have been the fate of Louisville? Who would there have been, in the hour of the late unexpected invasion, to march forward and interpose between her and the invading army? A thousand cheers for Brigadier General of warning. It is the beacon of supineness a well as the star of heroism. In each aspect, it teaches a lesson which Kentuckians, in this crisis of the destiny of their country and of their State, should earnestly heed.

When Xerxes set out for the inve Greece, a congress of deputies from the Greek States met at the Isthmus of Corinth for the purpose of making arrangements to resist the invader. The congress wisely resolved that the invader should be encountered at the pass of Thermopylæ, a narrow defile in Northern Greece, and Leonidas, with a detachment of Spartans and other Peloponnesians, was sent forward to occupy the pass. The body of the Grecian force, however, did not follow Leonidas and his men. On the contrary, the Greeks in general remained at home to attend the Olympic festival and the festival of the Carnean Apollo, persuaded, notwithstanding the foot of the invader was already upon the soil of Greece, that it would be time enough to go to the relief and reinforcement of Leonidas when two or three weeks distant the approaching games should be over. They stayed at home, not, indeed, to protect their families, they had too much military sense for that, but to amuse themselves. Meanwhile, Xerxes, at the head of one of the largest armies ever assembled on this globe came up to Thermopyle, and attacked Leonidas; who, repulsing the flower of the Persian army with a havoc that caused Xerxes to leap in rage out of the throne from which he watched the battle, held the mighty host at bay for the space of two mortal days, when, a traitor having revealed at last the secret mountain path that led to the rear of Leonidas, the Persians surrounded the hero and his band, and cut them to pieces, leaving Greece to expiate at Salamis and Plataa the supineness which abandoned her immortal vanguard to a fate that was almost as unnecessary and bootless in a military view as it is morally imperishable. Such is Thermopylæ.

Do we want a Thermopylæ in Kentucky? God forbid! and yet one seems all but impending. The Legislature, deliberating not unlike the Isthmian Congress of old on the means of resisting the invader, has resolved that the invader shall be expelled, and Leonidas, with his band of heroes, has gone forward to his post; but, though the invading legions are drawn up in battle array and in overpowering strength before this devoted phalanx, a portion of our people, neglecting their vanguard as the Greeks neglected theirs when the myriads of Xerxes hung above it like a thunder-cloud, are as inactive and supine as if the shadow of danger had not crossed their minds or had crossed only to paralyze and stupefy them. How long shall this suicidal apathy endure? Shall it last until our brave defenders on the railway and in the mountains, like their deathless prototypes at Thermopylæ, shall be overwhelmed and cut to pieces, and the invader, flushed with a sanguinary victory, takes up his unobstructed march for the Capital? or shall it give way at once to such energy and ardor as will enable our Spartan heroes to beat back and beat down the invader and sweep him ignominiously rom our soil? In a word, shall we have a Thermopylæ done by the Federal Government. in Kentucky or a Marathon?

Of one thing let us rest assured. If w hazard the former, the glory will belong exclusively to the heroes who fall, whilst the shame alone will belong to Kentucky. Our Thermopylæ, if we should ignobly risk one, could shed no lustre on the Commonwealth though it would shed disgrace, and might draw down destruction. Future history, more sternly just than the history of the past, will adjudge that the fame of men who die vainly yet nobly for their country, great and undying as such fame may be, is not greater and more undying than the infamy of the country which voluntarily permits its defenders so to die. In the eye of Christian civilization, the heroism of a Thermopylæ, sunbright as it is, can have no charm to gild the enormous dereliction that calls for or suffers the display.

The Louisville Journal and Democrat, for several days past, have moderated their tone of violence. It is a good indication and has a significant meaning.—Frankfort Yeoman.

We can't accept the Yeoman's praise in this case. We are aware of no change in our tone. We have not been violent, but we have been earnest and out-spoken, and we hope we are so But how about the Yeoman's tone? What has been the effect of late events upon that Can any one conceive the yell of a hyena subsiding suddenly into the squeak of a dormouse-or the scream of a hawk into the twitter of a tomtit?

Kentucky. — The telegraph informs us that Gov. Magoffin has issued his proclamation, requiring the Confederate troops to leave the State. This proceeding, with the action of the Legislature, makes this the action of the State. It is competent for the Confederate authorities to regard it as a cusus belli, maintain their positions and assail their enemies wherever they find them. But it is our privilege, also, to respect the proclamation of the Governor, if we choose to do so, and promptly withdraw our forces and leave the people of the State to settle their difficulties in their own way. If they prefer civil war among themselves or quiet submission to the Lincoln despotism, it is their affair. This latter course is recommended by the grave consideration that our Confederacy is based upon the principle of State sovereignty, and that we desire no member who does not enter it willingly and cheerfully. It may be that the present Legislature does not represent the wishes of the majority of the people; but of that fact we have no official cognizance. The people themselves must make that appear by a change of their agents. While our authorities are privileged to treat the conduct of the State as either warlike or pacific, it might not be a bad stroke of policy to regard it in the latter aspect, and leave the fate of the State in its own hands.

The Richmond organ thinks, that, although the very principle upon which the Southern

Several regiments, as we are informed, of Confederate troops, have crossed over into Kentucky this week from East Tennessee. One of these, under the command of Col. has now been in camp two weeks, and they still require nearly four hundred men to complete their organization. Special appeals to the chivalry and patriotism of the young men of Louisville, Jefferson, and the adjoining counties have been made. Every inducement in the way of comfortable quarters, full rations, thorough camp equipments, and immediate service, has been offered, and still the work goes on slowly. Officered by men in whose experience and competence all have the most implicit confidence, being nearer full than any other Regiment, and having a better chance for speedy occupation in the field, it is strange that its ranks are not more rapidly filled. If natriotism. State-pride, love of country, and glorious deeds, are insufficient to wake them from the deadly torpor in which they seem to sleep, let personal safety and self-protection drive them to action. The people do not seem to understand their peril. They do not comprehend that unless the hostile forces are driven from our soil before winter sets in, and field operations are closed, the whole Confederate army will winter on us. Must this be permitted? Is our substance to be exhausted-our barns pillaged-our property destroyed-our ened by a brutal soldiery, and we refuse to labor and fight for their protection? Lat every able-bodied man who loves his family, or his home, join this Regiment or some other and start in the field. If he cannot go himself, go in his place. We understand that not Home Guard alone should fill it in three days.

former protectors have volunteered in defence of the Uaion. It is not an uncommon thing for Information was received here on Saturday right in view of the fact that the General Coun il has made no provision to enable the Mayor to take care of the poor. His residence and office are constantly thronged with applicants of this kind, and he is compelled to help them with his private funds. These are drafts of a more onerous character than should be inflicted upon any citizen. We think that no one should assist in swelling these floods which sweep towards the Mayor, and we hope that the City Council will make some effort to aid those cuses of distress that are properly objects for aid.

Can there be the least doubt upon this subject in the mind of any one? We are assured there is none.

CAIRO, Oct. 1. Norfolk has to-day been abandoned by our oops, by order of Gen. Grant. and very wisely o, for it is a point of no importance or benefit; he occupation of which yielded only trouble, xation, and expense to the division. It is enrely needless to station troops at any point on e river this side of Columbus, until that point s been captured and occupied by the Federals. ven Belmont would be of little or no avail to us ior to the occupation by our forces of Columbus, s the place is entirely at the mercy of the rebel teries at Columbus. Until an effective moveent is made against the last named place, and Jeff Thompson's force beyond Hunter's, it is folly to hold the petty little points between or they are not worth keeping. The force lately ationed at Norfolk is now at Bird's Point, which consolidates a powerful and effective army I learn from a gentleman who returned from mbus this morning-having gone there at the instance of this command—that the place is strongly fortified at all points. He states that ock., 2 o'clock., 9 o'clock. 7 'clck., 2 'clck., 9 'clk at a point three miles up the river from Colum-ous there is a masked battery erected from logs, rth, &c., behind which are at least four 64unders, from his observations, which, from fear f being suspected, was necessarily limited. He stimates the number of guns of various dimenens planted on the bank of the river and the tskirts of the town to amount to from twentyve to thirty pieces, and the force of men in that vicinity to number at least $0,000, all of whom are well armed. He further states that last ight, while returning to this point in a mule art, he jumped out and put his ear to the nd, and, imagining he heard the tramp of rses, ordered the man in company with him to we into the brush in order to avoid them (if walry). It was but a short while until a force at least 300 Confederate cavalry rode by in he direction of Paducah. He also reports bayog discovered a trail, over which not less than 1,000 horses-supposed to be rebel cavalrypassed, also in the direction of Paducah.

There is no truth in the previously reported pture of the company of men guarding the bridge near Charleston, Lt. Col. Waters of the Twenty-eighth Illinois stated to me the following which was the foundation for the report: One o his companies went out from Bird's Point to guard the bridge ten miles this side of Charleston, and a all the influences that urge men to gallant and detachment of ten men from the same company was sent to guard a small bridge five miles this side where they met with some of the rebel cavalry, and as our men were preparing to fire on them they were fired upon by a body of infantry from an adjoining field, upon which our men, beng so greatly inferior in numbers, sought refuge flight, after delivering their fire on the rebels which they wounded two. The force which was sent out to their relief returned not finding any enemy, they having burnt a part of the bridge and flad. All of our men returned to their camp, but one having been wounded with a ball in the Shee's, was attack-ed by a force of 70 men from Jeff. Thompson's start in the field. If he cannot go himself, let him persuade or induce some young man to ramp of the rebels strike the bridge he ordered twenty recruits from the Home Guard of this his men to fire on them, upon which, after deliv city are in this camp. The young men of the ering their fire, they broke and fled, leaving 2 killed and several supposed to be wounded. TO THE PEOPLE OF INDIANA. In the progress of events, this wicked and unatural rebellion, having for its object the over-hrow of our Government and the subversion of ur institutions, has extended into our neighboring State of Kentucky. On several occasions within the last few months the people of Kentucky by overwhelming majorities have declared , by overwhelming majorities, have declared loyalty to the Union, and their determinate after the totalere to the Constitution. There is, ver, within her borders a desperate and factorinority who are determined, at all hazards, mage the State into revolution and all the rest of will have the state into revolution and all the rest of will have the state into revolution and all the rest of will have the state into revolution and all the rest of will have the state into revolution and all the rest of will have the state into revolution and all the rest of will have the state into revolution and all the rest of will have the state into revolution and all the rest of will have the state in the state of will have the state in the state of will have the state in the state of will have the state of wi priors of civil war.

To this end they have inaugurated a reign of rior, and, throwing off all restraints of law, colaim a war of destruction and desolation gainst the lives and property of all loyal and pipological citizans.

error, and, throwing off all restraints of law, proclaim a war of destruction and desolation against the lives and property of all loyal and Union-loving citizens.

In this atrocious attempt to coerce a loyal State into rebellion, they are aided by large bodies of wind of the property of all loyal and long the strong state. These rebel troops have entered the State from the southeast through the Cumberland Gap, from the southwest occupying Columbus and other points, but chiefly from the direction of Nashville toward Louisville, seizing and helding the Nashville and Louisville, seizing and helding the Nashville and Louisville, seizing and helding the Nashville and Louisville. A glance at the map will show the immense importance of their position and the advantage they have gained. From their camps south of Louisville they can communicate by railroad with every seceding State but two; and can thus transport to their aid in a few hours men and munitions of war from every part of the South. It is the determination of the invaders and conspirators to subjugate the loyal people of Kentucky, and seize for plunder and vengeance the wealthy and populous cities on the border of Ohio and Indiana.

It should require no argument or appeal now to rouse the people of Indiana to put forth all their strength. When our State was in her infancy, the brave men of Kentucky came to the rescue of our people from the scalping knife of the savege, and their blood is mingled with our soil on many a field. And shall we not stand by Kentucky now, in this her hour of peril? Not to do so were base ingranitude and criminal folly. We can best defend Indiana by repelling the invader from Kentucky, and carrying the war thence to the heart of the rebellious States.

Indiana has already done as well as any other loyal State, and better than many. Her troops are to be found in every camp from the Potomac to the Missouri, and wherever their valor has been put to the test they have been found equal to the occasion. But because other States have not ample of doing her whose unity, and shed by the world how much can be accomplished by the brave and loyal people of a single State.

To this we are prompted by every consideration of hope, interest, and affection. All that we are, all that we hope to be, is in issue. Our cause is the holiest for which arms were ever taken up, involving, as it does, the existence of our Government, and all that is valuable and dear to a free secolo.

lf other considerations are required than those lastily written. I hope to be able soon to give people.

If other considerations are required than those of duty and devotion to our cause, they may be found in the fact that the war has reached our own borders, and that if the energy and insolence of the rebels are not promptly met and punished, our own soil is not secure from pollution by an army of traitors.

It therefore call upon all men capable of bearing arms, and who can leave their homes, to cast aside their ordinary pursuits, and enroll themselves in the ranks of the army. Let the farmer leave his plough, the merchant his store, the mechanic his workshop, the banker his exchange, and the professional man his office, and devote themselves to their country, and by enrolling themselves either in the service of the General Government or under the military law of the State, be prepared to defend their country and their homes. Every man in the State capable of bearing arms should be in the service of the General Government or the State. Let personal ease and private interests submit to the overruling necessities of the hour, and let us show to the world by the sacrifice we are willing to make in each of the state in the inheritance they have bequeathed to us.

Upon those who remain at home, I would urge the solemn duty of making provision for the families of those who have or may hereafter enter the army. The soldier in the field should have the awest assurance that his wife and children, and all who are dependent upon his labor for all wing, will be provided with sufficient food and clothing. Such an assurance would nerve his arm in the hour of battle, and enable him to bear with cheerfulness the hardships and priva-tions of a soldier's life. It would be a lasting disgrace to our people if the family of any sol-dier should want for bread or raiment while our country is full to overflowing with all the necessaries of life. In a time like this, we should give freely of our substance for the relief of those whose husbands, fathers, and brothers are perilling their lives in battle.

I, therefore, earnestly recommend that every town, township, and neighborhood take efficient and systematic steps for the accomplishment of this purpose.

The Union ladies (God bless them) are attentive to the wants of the soldiers—feeding are attentive to the wants of the soldiers—feeding the sentinels placed near their dwellings, and making all as comfortable as possible. General Ward, although quite feeble, is at his post, and, ere long, the bridge burners and the tin cup this wes will hear from him. Col. E. H. Hobson, who is the adored of the camp, is actively engaged in the discharge of his duties. His regiment will soon be full. With such gallant commanders as Col. E. H. Hobson, Lieut. Colonel John B. Carlile, and our good-natured Major Wm. E. Hobson, the Second Kentucky Regiment will do noble service in the cause of our country. We have now about 550 men encamped here, and it is cheering to see the Union men coming to us daily and nightly from the surrounding counties. We shall have two thousand here in less than ten days. So soon as we get our camp equipage, &c., &c., hundreds will come daily. two thousand here in less than ten days. So soon reported here that R. W. Hanson will shortly attack this place. I do not think, kowever, he will get so far from the iron horse.

Our encampment is in a healthy location and our officers are all good men. The commissary's department is managed by Capt. William Spencer. He will feed the boys, extein Captain Spencer is the man for the place. Our Quartermaster, Col. A. Green, is the best feeder in this country. He is attentive, kind, and polito to all. There is but one slight objection to him and that is, he scarcely ever talks any. Col. Wheat is here also, and I am informed that he will soon

The scouts from Wordsonville have been seen

Kentuckians! Confederate troops under the lea of military necessity have taker of your soil, torn up your railroads, blown up locks, burned bridges, insulted your citizens, a false assumption that your Legislature is mis-representing your will. Washingforn, Oct. 2.

Upon charges made by Colonel Biair, Major General Fremont has been ordered to report himself for trial by court martial.

General Wool, of Fortress Monroe, has been ordered to supersede General Fremont in the command of the Department of the West, and Gen. Mansfield left for Fortress Monroe this afternoon to supersede General Fremont by Supersede General Wool. Captain Drake de Kay accompanies General Mool, it is understood, has left the Fortress, and is on his way Westward. General Wool, it is understood, has left the Fortress, and is on his way Westward. General Fremont will proceed to this city at his earliest convenience, leaving his forces in command of another who is considered competent to meet any foe that General Fremont has been marching against.

The defiant attitude of the rebels hereabouts has been abandoned. They are now acting purely on the defence. They are manifestly continually alarmed, fearing an assault from some quarter where they are most assailable. They cannot execute their own programme of crossing the river and fear an attack on their own flanks. Their position forms a crescent reaching from Occoquan Creek to a point above Leesburg, while the centre extends from Fairfax Court House to Manassas Junction. A rise in the river above and the presence of the Potomac flotilla below Washington preclude their crossing. They are aware that we have command of means to cross at any point and turn either of their flanks. Their steps backward is considered here by experienced army officers as an indication that they do not intend to offer battle on the Potomac.

Potomac,
Affairs at the navy-vard and along the Potonac are quiet. The Island Belle arrived this

The number of volunteers entering the service from all the loyal States is now about 50,000 per week.

Senator Carlisle, who has been here several days, went home this morning. He gave a cheering account of affairs in Western Virginia.

To-day, a scouting party of cavalry went a mile beyond Falls Church, but saw only a small picket guard of rebels. An intelligent lady has picket guard of rebels. An intelligent lady has reached here from Winchester and states that all classes of society there speak of the vital necessity of the rebels winning a great victory opposite Washington. Their retreat would cause a most listressing effect.

SANDY HOOK, Oct. 3. On Thursday last Major Gould and Captain Scribner of the 13th Massachusetts, under Major McDaniels of the special service, went to Harper's Ferry and recovered two valuable bells belong-benefit of the rebels. Letters were found on his person showing that he was in constant communication with the robel leaders.

The officers confiscated his mules, wagons, and other articles. The four large pieces of ordnance which were recently recovered from Harper's. Ferry have been fitted up in an ingenious manner by Captain Scribner, and frequently pay their respects to the enemy. The same officer has collected large quantities of railroad spikes, which he wires in suitable bundles and discharges them in place of cannister shot. He declares that he can keep the whole rebel army from crossing here with these novel projectiles.

Rumors being prevalent involving military changes, it is ascortained on enquiry at the War Department that no orders have been issued to Major Gen. He told them, that, had McClellan shot them on the spot for rebelling in the face of the enemy, he would have been perfectly justified. He had, however, a proposition to make to them. All who were willing to place themselves in his hands should step forward three pages. Those who refused would proceed to Tortugas. The entire 150 stepped forward and many were so effected that they shed tears of joy.

General Wool has not left Fortress Monroe, and passengers who arrived by the Old Point steamboat this morning have no knowledge of any contemplated change in that department.

A special despatch to the St. Louis Repulican, from Jefferson City, says:

Dr. White says he heard, on his way here, that 1,800 rebels had parted from the main body and marched towards Georgetown, with the intention of taking that place before reinforcements could arrive from Jefferson City.

A miller who left Georgetown yesterday morning, says he was turned back by the enemy's pickets, twelve miles from that town.

Dr. White thinks that the rebels will endeavor to get between us and the force at Georgeiown and surround and cut off Davis and Sigel and then meet Fremont near this place. The rebel force has nineteen field pieces and are expecting rifled cannon from the South. Gen. Price told the Doctor that the Southern Confederacy had loaned the State of Missouri one million dollars for the purpose of carrying on the war against the Federal Government. The rebel troops are confident of victory and are clamoring to be led against Fremont. Dr. White gives a sorry statement in regard to the conduct of the rebels towards the wounded at Lexington. They took away from him all his hospital stores, not leaving him even a sponge.

A portion of Price's force had moved towards Independence. There were but about three hundred men in Warrensburg when Dr. White passed through there. He thinks Price's force numbers full 40,000.
